Explanations
1. C	el / e / phant = 3 syllables. Each chunk has one vowel sound.
2. B	Three clear syllables: bas-ket-ball. Compound words split between root parts and inside each root.
3. A	Pull off the prefix (un-) and the suffix (-ness), then read the middle. The others either spell letter by letter or split in odd places.
4. C	in-for-ma-tion = 4 syllables.
5. C	Elephant = el-e-phant (3). Mountain = moun-tain (2), snowflake = snow-flake (2), tree = 1.
6. B	Prefix (re-), root (build), suffix (-ing). The others ignore the word parts.
7. B	cel-e-bra-tion = 4 syllables. Volcano = vol-ca-no (3); important = 3; remember = 3.
8. A	Prefix (un-) + comfort + -able. The others ignore real chunks of the word.
9. B	Splitting into chunks helps decoding. A is not the point; C is wrong; D is too strong.
10. C	School = 1 syllable. The others have 3 or more.
11. but-ter-fly	Three clear syllables.
12. B	Chunking is the strategy. Skipping skips meaning; first-letter guessing is unreliable; reading backward changes nothing.
