

Similes and Metaphors

Name: _____

Date: _____

Score: _____ / 10

Quick Review

A simile compares two DIFFERENT things using like or as (busy as a bee). A metaphor compares without those words — it says one thing IS another (Time is money). Be careful: a sentence with like or as is NOT a simile if it just compares two of the same kind (She is as tall as my sister = literal comparison).

PRACTICE

Explanations

1. C	C compares two different things (a smile and a sunrise) using as bright as . A drops the like/as and renames the smile a sunrise (that's a metaphor). B uses as...as but compares two ages — a literal comparison, not a simile. D gives the smile a human action (personification).
2. C	C says the voice IS thunder — no like/as . A uses like (simile). B turns thunder into a verb (vivid verb / personification). D uses as...as on two of the same kind (loudness vs. sister's loudness) — literal.
3. D	Thunder is the slow, deep, rumbling boom of a storm — D matches both loud and powerful . A is the opposite; B describes a sharp crack (more like a clap of thunder than rolling thunder); C is unrelated.
4. A	Glass's key trait here is its smooth, flat surface — A matches stillness. B latches onto broken glass (wrong trait); C is about clearness (a different glass trait); D names other glass traits but not smoothness.
5. C	C compares two different things (a kitten's purr and a motor) with like — a simile. A drops the like/as (metaphor). B uses softer than (a literal-style comparison, not a simile). D uses as...as but compares two cats — literal.
6. B	B says the classroom IS a zoo — no like/as — a metaphor. A is the simile version. C uses a vivid verb (personification of the room). D is a literal comparison of size.
7. B	Couch potato = someone who sits and watches TV instead of being active. A and D take the words literally (gardening, cooking); C reads potato as describing appearance.
8. D	D uses like to compare a runner to wind — a simile. A drops like/as (metaphor). B uses a vivid verb (no comparison). C uses faster than on two runners (literal comparison).
9. A	Easy as pie = very easy. B, C, and D all read the pie literally (size, taste, layers) and miss the figurative meaning.
10. C	C uses like to compare the line to molasses — simile. A uses slower than on two lines (literal). B uses a personifying verb (no like/as). D is the metaphor version (no like/as).
