

Perfect Verb Tenses (Have/Had/Will Have)

Name: _____

Date: _____

Score: _____ / 10

Quick Review

Perfect tenses use a form of HAVE plus the past participle. Present perfect (has/have + p.p.) links a past action to NOW. Past perfect (had + p.p.) shows an action FINISHED before another past action. Future perfect (will have + p.p.) shows an action that WILL be finished before a future moment.

Explanations

1. B	Past perfect ('had walked') is needed because the walking finished BEFORE another past action (the bell ringing). A uses simple past, missing the sequence. C uses present perfect, but the reference point is in the past, not now. D uses passive 'was walked', which changes the meaning.
2. D	Present perfect connects past to NOW; it pairs with time markers like 'so far', 'already', 'yet'. D fits. A, B, and C all use finished past time markers ('last summer', 'yesterday', 'when I was little'), which require simple past, not present perfect.
3. A	Future perfect ('will have finished') shows an action completed before a future moment ('by next June'). B uses simple future and loses the 'completed before' meaning. C uses present perfect (action up to now), and D uses past perfect (action before another PAST event).
4. C	Present perfect = has/have + PAST PARTICIPLE. The participle of 'sing' is 'sung'. 'Sing' is the base form, 'sang' is simple past, and 'singing' is the present participle (-ing form).
5. B	Two past actions, one before the other — past perfect ('had eaten') for the earlier one. A uses simple past for both, losing the order. C uses present perfect (refers to now). D uses future perfect, which doesn't fit a past sentence.
6. D	Need 'has' (singular subject 'Aiden') + 'ridden' (past participle of 'ride'). A uses 'have' with a singular subject. B and C use 'rode' (simple past), but the participle is 'ridden'.
7. A	The returning happened BEFORE the explaining (both past), so past perfect 'had returned' is correct in A. B mixes past with present perfect. C shifts to present 'explains'. D puts past perfect on the wrong verb and shifts the second clause to present 'returns'.
8. C	Future perfect = WILL HAVE + past participle, used when an action is completed before a future point ('by the time you arrive'). A is simple present; B is present perfect (action up to now); D is past perfect (action before a PAST point).
9. B	Present perfect = HAVE/HAS + past participle. The participle of 'write' is 'written', not 'wrote'. A and C use simple past 'wrote' after a helping verb. D uses 'has' with the subject 'I' (must be 'have').
10. had become	Past perfect = HAD + past participle. The participle of 'become' is 'become' (same form). The earlier action (field becoming muddy) happened before the later past action (rain stopping). Mark wrong: 'became' (simple past, no order signal), 'has become' (present perfect — wrong time), 'had became' (wrong participle form).
