Quick Review

Denotation is a word's exact dictionary meaning. Connotation is the FEELING the word adds — positive, neutral, or negative. Words can be near-synonyms and still send very different signals. Slim (positive), thin (neutral), and skinny (mildly negative) all describe a narrow body, but they don't feel the same. The same is true for look / gaze / stare / gawk, group / crowd / mob, talk / chat / chatter / babble, young / youthful / childish / immature, and old / elderly / antiquated / ancient. Match the connotation to the tone the writer wants.

Explanations
1. D	Crowd is a neutral-to-positive word for a large group — it fits Marisol's warm and hopeful speech. A mob is large AND uncontrolled, with a negative connotation (riots, anger). B gang suggests criminality. C horde suggests a threatening or invading group. All four denote a large group of people , but only D fits the warm tone of the passage.
2. B	Scrawny suggests thin in an unhealthy or unattractive way — clearly negative. A thin is roughly neutral. C slim is mildly positive (associated with fitness). D slender is positive (often complimentary). All four share the denotation narrow in body , but their connotations span the full positive–negative scale.
3. C	Gathered is neutral and fair — the right tone for impartial news. A rioted implies violence and contradicts peacefully . B swarmed compares people to insects, a negative image. D stormed suggests forceful, angry action. Only C matches both the literal facts and the neutral tone the reporter wants.
4. A	Gazed connotes thoughtful, admiring attention — praise for the way Lucia engages with the painting. B gawked connotes dumb staring (negative). C stared is more neutral but feels blank or rude. D peered suggests trouble seeing, not admiration. All four mean looked for a long time but only A fits a praising tone.
5. C	Elderly is the respectful word for older people — positive. A ancient exaggerates and sounds rude when applied to a person. B antiquated usually applies to objects or ideas (an antiquated computer); for people it sounds harsh and out-of-date. D decrepit suggests worn-out and broken-down — deeply negative. All four denote old in some way; only C is respectful.
6. B	Chattered connotes quick, nonstop, light talk — mildly negative, suggesting Mateo found it tiring. A discussed is formal and neutral; it doesn't show annoyance. C spoke and D talked are neutral. All four denote used words , but only B carries the edge of annoyance that fits a long car ride.
7. D	D uses loud (often negative for performance) and odd (negative for unusual) — criticism in disguise. A, B, and C describe the SAME qualities with positive synonyms (bold, confident, original, inventive, unique, daring). This is how writers can praise or criticize while reporting the same facts.
8. A	Youthful is positive — it suggests fresh, lively energy. B childish is negative when used for energy (silly, immature). C immature is openly negative (not grown up enough). D infantile is the strongest criticism (acting like a baby). All four denote young , but only A casts the children positively.

9.	Answer: (a) Thrifty has a positive connotation — it suggests careful, wise use of money. (b) A more critical near-synonym is stingy (or cheap , miserly); a positive near-synonym is frugal or economical . (c) Calling Ms. Park thrifty or frugal makes the reader admire her self-control, while calling her stingy or cheap makes the reader see her as selfish — even though all the words describe the SAME behavior.
10.	Answer: (a) Sentence 1 praises the reporter; sentence 2 criticizes the reporter. (b) Determined (positive: strong-willed, focused) vs. pushy (negative: rudely aggressive). Pressed (neutral-to-positive: applied steady pressure to get answers) vs. badgered (negative: nagged or harassed repeatedly). The denotations overlap, but the connotations push the reader toward opposite judgments.
