

Volume of Pyramids

Name: _____

Date: _____

Score: _____ / 24

Q Quick Review

A pyramid has a flat base and triangular faces that meet at a single point on top. Its volume is $V = \frac{1}{3}Bh$, where B is the area of the base and h is the height (the straight-up distance from the base to the tip). A pyramid holds exactly one third as much as a prism with the same base and height. The trick is always to find the base area B first: for a square base it is side^2 , for a rectangular base it is $\text{length} \times \text{width}$. Volume is in cubic units.

◇ Example: Find the volume of a pyramid with a square base of side 6 cm and a height of 10 cm.

⇒ Start with the base area. The base is a square with side 6, so $B = 6^2 = 36$ square cm. Now use $V = \frac{1}{3}Bh$ with $B = 36$ and $h = 10$: $V = \frac{1}{3} \times 36 \times 10$. Multiply $36 \times 10 = 360$, then take a third: $360 \div 3 = 120$. The volume is 120 cubic centimeters.

Answer: $V = 120 \text{ cm}^3$
